Let's do Grammar!

I Think...Should

We often use I think or I don't think when we use the modal verb should.

I think you should exercise more.

I don't think you should eat fast food.

I think we should take the bus today.

Let's Read!

Domestic Cats

Domestic cats have lived with humans for thousands of years. The domestic cat is part of the cat family, along with tigers, lions, cheetahs, jaguars, leopards, and pumas. Domestic cats live with people all over the world. Some cats don't have a home; we call them feral cats. Cats are carnivores, so they only eat meat. All cats have whiskers on each side of their nose. The cat is the only animal that makes a purring sound which is a vibrating sound made in its throat. A female cat can have 2-3 litters of kittens a year.

Which cat should Clara buy?

(Answer with I think/don't think and should.)

Clara wants to buy a cat. She lives alone in her apartment in New York and wants to get a cute cat. Clara wants a small, playful cat. It must be friendly and like to be held.

The Ragdoll is a loving and smart cat. It loves to sit on your lap and have you pet it. This cat is medium to large in size. The Ragdoll makes for an excellent friend to humans.

The Singapura is the smallest of the cat breeds. They are very lovable and desire human attention. They like to play games much like a dog. They also like to sit in high places and look around.

The Munchkin cat has the shortest legs of all the cats. They are small to medium-sized cats. They are loving cats and want to be held a lot. They are playful and intelligent cats, also.
