Coffee Shop Cashier

As a cashier, Lily had an important job in the coffee shop. She was the first person the customers saw when they entered the shop, so she had to be welcoming and friendly. She greeted them with a smile from behind the counter and asked them what they would like to order.

Coffee Shop Cashier

Lily had to know the different types of drinks and pastries that the coffee shop offered, as well as their prices. She would input the order into the cash register and let the customer know the total. She then took the payment and gave the customer their receipt.

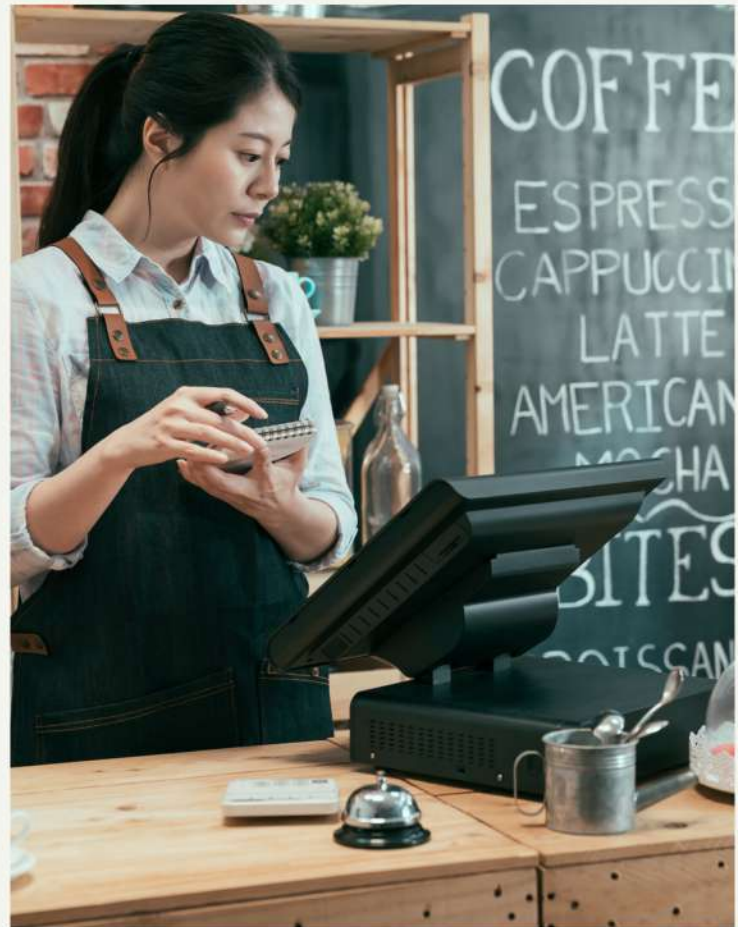

Coffee Shop Cashier

One of Lily's jobs as a cashier was taking care of the display case. She had to make sure that it was always full of fresh and yummy-looking pastries. If a pastry looked like it had been sitting in the display case for too long, Lily would remove it and replace it with a fresh one.

Coffee Shop Cashier

Lily also had to work well and communicate with baristas. This made sure that the baristas made the coffee exactly how the customers wanted it. She had to work quickly during busy times but also take care of the needs of each customer. Overall, Lily's role as a cashier was important to the success of the coffee shop.
