

Super English

Level 4 - Unit 17
Hanging Out - Lesson 2

Vocabulary

Hanging Out - Vocabulary

crew: a group of people who work or play together, esp. in sports or performing tasks (noun)

The dance crew put on their best show.

Hanging Out - Vocabulary

helmet: a hard hat that protects your head (noun)

They always wear their helmets when they ride their bikes.

Hanging Out - Vocabulary

pads: protective pieces of material that you wear to protect parts of your body (noun)

She has pink and purple knee pads to match her roller blades.

Hanging Out - Vocabulary

rail: a bar that is long and thin, often used for support when walking up and down stairs; railing (noun)

She leaned against the rail while watching her crew work.

Let's Read

Skate Park and Skate Crews

At Sunnydale Skate Park, the air buzzed with excitement as four different crews showed off their skills.

Crew One, the Elm Street Flyers, zoomed around with flashy helmets and knee pads. Jake, their leader, always had a joke ready. "Watch this, no hands!" he'd shout, zooming past, his friends laughing and cheering.

Skate Park and Skate Crews

The second crew, known as the River Road Rookies, were the new kids on the block. Sam, a shy boy with a big smile and a big personality, recently mastered grinding on the rail. "Did you see that?" he would ask, with a huge smile after each successful trick. His crew, always supportive, would give him high-fives.

Skate Park and Skate Crews

Up third, there were the Ramp Masters from Maple Avenue. They loved jumping on the ramps. It was their favorite at the park. "Higher, higher!" they'd cheer as each member took turns soaring into the air. Lily, the only girl in the crew, was known for her daring jumps. "Safety first," she'd remind everyone, adjusting her bright pink helmet.

Skate Park and Skate Crews

The fourth crew, the Downtown Daredevils, were the trick experts. They did spins, flips, and would even skateboarded backward. Their leader, Max, had a knack for making everything look easy. "Check this out!" he'd call out before launching into a difficult flip, landing perfectly every time. His crew cheering with excitement.

Skate Park and Skate Crews

As the sun dipped lower, the crews gathered together. They shared stories, laughed, and even planned a friendly competition for their next meet-up.

The Sunnydale Skate Park was more than just a place to skate; it was where friendships were made and fun times were had. As they said their goodbyes, they all knew they'd be back soon, ready for more adventures on wheels.

Grammar

Adverbs

Adverbs tell us more information about verbs.

The boy ran quickly to the store.

Adjectives tell us more information about nouns.

The quick boy ran to the store.

Phonics

Ex Words

(ex + consonant = eks) and (ex + vowel = egz)

eks

exclusive expand

excuses

expired

extrovert

expressway

egz

exaggerate

exotic

exude

exit

exercise

exhausted

Super English

See you
Next time!

