Planning a Class Trip

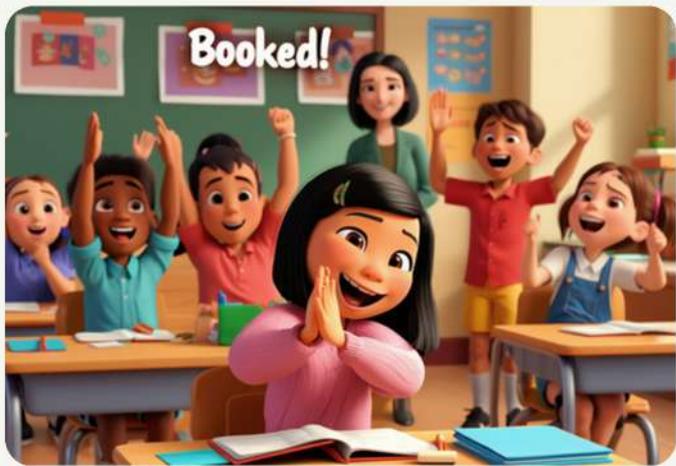

Last week, our class talked about planning a trip together. Everyone shared ideas, and it got loud fast. Sam wanted the beach, but Mia likes mountains. Our teacher smiled and said we must choose one destination. A destination is the place we want to visit. We looked at pictures of cities, parks, and museums. In the end, we all voted, and the beach won by one hand.

1. How did the class choose the destination?
2. Where would you vote to go?

Booking the Hotel

After we picked our destination, our teacher talked about the hotel. A hotel is where people sleep when they travel. She said we need a reservation before we go. A reservation tells the hotel we are coming. She showed us how to book online. The internet was slow, so we waited and joked. Finally, the screen said “Booked!” and everyone clapped.

1. How did they book the hotel?
2. Would you rather book a hotel online or by calling them? Why?
